7:15 HEARING– CHAPTER 10 SECTION III, AREA OF CITY IMPACT FOR EDEN, TEXT AMENDMENT

Bill Baker asked if there was anyone who would like to testify for the group or individually.

Michelle Taylor testified on behalf of the City of the Eden and stated her name and address for the record. She addressed the Ordinance Text Amendment change. The current use allows any type of development to come in and is inconsistent with the needs of the community and ineffective in protecting the residents. The primary intent is to preserve the agricultural base which is the surrounding area and the residents. The City of Eden Council feels that it's important to align the language and zones with Jerome County and the City of Hazelton who have completed that side. This allows the continuity of how the region is going to develop and also allows them to direct new developing areas so that it best meets municipal needs.

Mike Tylka asked Michelle Taylor if the residents in the Eden area are in favor with the Area of Impact. Michelle Taylor answered that the community has been very vocal over the process. Residents were concerned with what type of developments would be allowed within the whole Area of Impact; close to the town of Eden and outer perimeters of the Area of Impact. Whatever is being developed outside the city limits impacts everyone within the city limits and in every direction in the Area of Impact. Brett Thompson asked if the main concerns are the definitions of the Area of Impact or within the zoning and not over the actual size of the Area of Impact. Michelle Taylor answered that the size has not changed in the past twenty years.

Tim Stover testified on behalf of the City of Eden. He is the attorney for the City of Eden and is in support of both Text Amendments and the Rezone Application.

Nancy Marshall presented the Application and Staff Report. Nancy Marshall stated that the proposal was brought by herself on behalf of the County as well as the City Council of Eden. The previous Area of City Impact agreement was from 1994 and was ineffective and not utilized. Prospects of a CAFO caused back and forth opinions on expanding the Impact Area to zone out the LCO. It was explained that the Area of City Impact is an area that surrounds the city that allows them to grow in any direction while they are working on their infrastructure and the City of Eden ended up staying in their original Area of Impact. As Michelle Taylor explained, they are now putting specific zoning into that Area of Impact in the same manner as the City of Jerome and the City of Hazelton. Nancy Marshall also stated that the Commissioners had previously discussed the Text Amendment to Chapter Ten, Section Three and made a recommendation for approval to the Board of County Commissioners a year ago. Changes have been added from recent discussions on setbacks in Impact Areas. This Amendment gives the City of Eden more discretion on what surrounds their City but still give the Commissioners jurisdiction. This negotiation outlines the type of uses around their city and where they want their Residential and Industrial and what Uses would be allowed by Special Use Permits versus just a Permitted Use or not Permitted at all.

DISCUSSION & DECISION

The commission discussed the Application and motioned to recommend approval.

M/S/C Trish Heath made a motion to recommend to the Board of County Commissioners to approve the proposed Text Amendment for Chapter 10 Section III as the Amendment has been well reviewed and designed to meet the community's overall desire for growth. The Text Amendment closely resembles that of the City of Jerome but is specific to the Eden's citizen's direction. Mike Tylka seconded the motion. Motion carried unanimously.

7:30 HEARING-- PROPOSED ZONING MAP AMENDMENT FOR THE AREA OF CITY IMPACT FOR EDEN

Michelle Taylor stated her name and address for the record. She explained that on the City of Eden Map they would like to see the majority as City Impact Agriculture Limited (IMP-AL) that would coincide with the different types of permits that were reviewed such as Special Use Permit's, Permitted Uses, or Non-Permitted Uses. It will allow the continuity between Hazelton structures, Valley Road to the east, and to the structure in the City of Eden, and west of the city. The Light Industrial area surrounding Eden's lagoons are intended for sewer purposes.
